

Community Reflection Guide WebQuest

Goals:

- Expand on the introduction to the guide that will begin with overview (immediately preceding this on the workshop agenda)
- Inspire workshop participants to engage with the guide
- Prompt some reflective thinking and conversation among practitioners about learning and violence issues
- Inspire participants to set goals for further use of the guide

WebQuest:

Work in pairs – encourage participants to partner with someone in a similar role, then send them off to do the webquest at separate computers.

1. Go to <http://learningandviolence.net/> and look for the link to New Materials. Click on the link.
2. Look for the window for the “Community-based Literacy: Reflection Guide” and click in this window to be taken to the guide.
3. Practice moving your mouse over the quilt. You will notice that there are five different squares on the quilt that link to the different sections of the guide. Which one interests you most?
4. Visit the Welcome section to review how you might use this guide.

Trivia question for you to answer: how many community-based adult literacy workers were interviewed in the creation of this guide? (Answer for facilitators: 21)

5. Go to “3. Foundations for Learning”. Click through the different links in this section and skim the materials.

Question: What are some of the messages you pick up from this section about the role of a social justice approach to literacy work? Discuss with your partner.

6. Wander around a little using your mouse.

Task: Look for a section of the guide that particularly speaks to the work you do. Can you see how the guide might be useful to you in your work? Discuss with your partner.

7. Return to the home page (the Quilt), and look for the “Forum” link. Click on it to see the learning and violence discussion forum. Once you are there, try:

- a) Making a posting to one of the existing discussions
- b) Creating a new discussion forum yourself and putting a question or problem out into the forum for responses.

8. Follow-up: pull out your calendars and make a date with your partner, or with yourself if your partner is not going to be available in the next month or so, to spend half an hour chatting or pondering your reflections after spending more time exploring the site.
